DO YOU KNOW . . . LUCY STONE?

(Feminist, Abolitionist, Suffragist. August 13, 1818 - October 18, 1893)

Lucy Stone is a little less known pioneer in the suffragist movement. She split from Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton to be a co-founder of the American Woman Suffrage Association, which kept the causes of blacks and woman suffrage together.

At an early age Lucy objected to biblical dictates of man's "divine right" and woman's subordinate roles. She studied Greek & Hebrew at Oberlin College and spoke out at churches challenging rules she found unfair to women. After she was expelled from church, she joined the Unitarians.

She married Henry Blackwell who was 7 years her junior. She is best known for being the first woman in the US to keep her own name after marriage. Also noted as: first woman in Massachusetts to earn a college degree, and first person in New England to be cremated.
